REGINA REGION

• Partner Technologies Inc. (PTI) has signed a five-year; $80 million contract to build transformers for SaskPower. PTI employs 90 people, operates out of a 100,000 square foot plant and is now the largest privately owned Canadian manufacturer of electrical distribution transformers. PTI started in 1989 as a two person company which operated in a garage. Caron Hopfner is the President of PTI and George Partyka is the Vice President of PTI.

• Sean Frisky is the only Saskatchewan representative among the 45 Prairie region nominees for the Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year awards. Frisky is president and CEO of Ground Effects Environmental Services Inc. (GEE), which designs and manufactures remediation equipment for contaminated sites. Frisky was nominated in the manufacturing category. GEE currently employs 40 full time staff to manufacture environmental remediation equipment out of its headquarters in Regina.

SWIFT CURRENT REGION

• The community of Burstall started an economic development committee and has quickly made progress. Recently, their work paid off after a successful bid was submitted to an international organization to host "An English as a Second Language" program for children ages 10 to 15. Competing cities included Toronto and Seattle, which were beat out by a small rural community of 300 in Southwestern Saskatchewan. Burstall hosted 18 students from Korea along with several adult chaperones. The children stayed in the area with host families for two weeks experiencing daily English training in addition to trying a variety of Canadian activities and food, and exploring the vast tourism in the region including Cypress Hills Park and The Great Sandhills.

ESTEVAN REGION

• The Weyburn Inland Terminal (WIT) has purchased a port terminal in Vancouver. WIT is part of a consortium of six small and medium-sized Canadian grain companies who are now the owners of the Alliance Grain Terminal Ltd., formerly Terminal West.

SASKATOON REGION

• Hanley will be the new home of a biopharmaceutical company. Vigor Biopharm aims to turn a cancer drug derived from yew trees into $2.5 billion in annual revenue from sales. Gordon Summer, board chair of the company, announced that the company will build a 30,000 square foot pharmaceutical plant in the community. The plant will provide 40 full-time jobs, with approximately 40 part-time jobs on the harvesting end. The new plant is slated to open in October.

• The Business Mentorship Institute (BMI) of Saskatchewan will be donating $5,000 over the next three years to the Humboldt Chamber of Commerce, so it can set up a mentorship program in the area. The money will be used to market the program, host network events, or anything else the Chamber needs to do in relation to the project. The Chamber will be making three successful matches in the first year.

NORTH BATTLEFORD REGION

• Business planning for an ethanol feedlot facility in northwest Saskatchewan should be complete by late September, 2007. The Northwest REDA plans to meet with Meadow Lake Mechanical Pulp and NorSask Forest Products to discuss the feasibility of integrating a biomass electrical cogeneration plant with the ethanol plant.

MOOSE JAW REGION

• The July edition of Chatelaine magazine featured Moose Jaw as the best place to visit in Saskatchewan if one were a "history buff".

YORKTON REGION

• A proposed Estevan-based power generating, oil-flushing project could have a major economic impact for the area. If the project goes ahead, Babcock and Wilcox Melville would likely build the boiler for the Shand 2 project. Babcock and Wilcox Melville have been working for Sask Power since it built the Melville plant in the late 1980s. The company has been involved in several boiler-upgrading projects for the crown utility.

PRINCE ALBERT REGION

• Clean Country Renewable Energy is proposing to construct and operate an ethanol production facility near Hudson Bay. The proposed plant would produce 200 million litres of ethanol using 25 million bushels of peas and two-row barley per year. The group is currently working on seeking investors and raising the necessary capital to construct the facility. It is currently working on its business plan to accomplish its goals.
